NEW Notpla seaweed window

Notpla
Disappearing
Packaging

Say hello to nature's packaging
Instead of plastic, this box uses seaweed to provide a natural coating and clear film window. When you're done eating, it will disappear without a trace—like a fruit peel.

The unique superpowers of Notpla

- 1 Made from seaweed, one of nature's most renewable resources
- 2 The first plastic-free coating under the Single Use Plastic Directive
- 3 Designed for guilt-free disposal in all waste streams

KSP001

The first government- approved plastic-free coating

Only one coating has emerged as truly plastic-free—following a rigorous nine-month assessment, the Dutch government agency responsible for enforcing environmental regulations officially recognised Notpla’s unique material as the first and only coating to meet the EU Single-Use Plastic Directive’s strict definitions of plastic-free.

With thousands of other materials still classified as plastic, including those which claim to be “plastic-free”, this sets Notpla apart and supports our mission to reduce society’s dependence on plastic.

Notpla's award-winning collection of takeaway food containers has been designed for a foodservice industry seeking plastic-free packaging options.

Food containers

OBS1C001

So, what makes Notpla food containers different?

One of the biggest contributors to single-use plastic waste is hiding in plain site. And it's something we can fix.

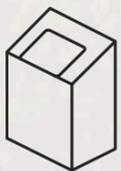

Traditional disposable food packaging is lined with plastic-based coatings. At Notpla, we've replaced these with our patented, 100% natural seaweed coating. This means that the whole package can be composted at home where it will disappear without a trace - just like a fruit peel.

NEW COLLECTION

A window into the future

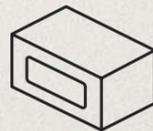

Your food-to-go packaging choice just became much clearer.

For the first time, both the coating and the window are made using Notpla's pioneering seaweed-based materials - a world-first for food-to-go. The SeaView Collection is 100% natural, fully home-compostable, recyclable and ready for the real world.

Guilt-free disposal, no matter what

Up until now, packaging has only been designed with one possible end-of-life scenario in mind. In the likely event that it doesn't reach its intended destination, there is no backup plan. At best, it clogs our landfills; at worst, it ends up in oceans or rivers.

This is where Notpla is different. No matter where our food containers end up, we've ensured they'll do no harm - even in general waste.

CLAMSHELLS

Sleek containers featuring hinged lids for easy access and secure closure. Notpla's clamshell containers are ideal for everything from gourmet burgers to loaded hot dogs and steamy Bao buns, perfectly preserving the freshness, temperature, and presentation of each dish. Available in multiple, space-efficient sizes, now's the time to embrace a more sustainable service with our plastic-free clamshells.

DID YOU KNOW?

“Bagasse fibres in take-away packaging are treated with 'forever chemicals' called PFAs to make them stronger and grease-resistant. PFAs are extremely harmful and remain in the environment and the body forever. The EU will ban the use of PFAs in food-contact packaging from 2026. Notpla has been independently tested to confirmed our packaging is 100% free from PFAs.”

Nature's way to wrap

Crisp, colourful salad rolls are a perfect match for today's demand for fresher, healthier menus. But the rice paper wrap that holds them together often can't keep up, breaking down with moisture and impacting shelf life and wastage. Notpla's Edible Film Sheets provide a naturally robust, seaweed-based alternative that can be used in place of rice paper or even nori. Offering a longer-lasting, edible alternative that doesn't compromise on performance or presentation.

The seaweed spoon saviour

While consumers are left with a bad taste in their mouths from rough, wooden cutlery, the planet is even less impressed by PLA and paper laminated alternatives that create a damaging trail of microplastics.

So we created something that was better for everyone.

Made from our unique seaweed formula, Notpla cutlery remains stiff during use, while offering a smooth experience. Once finished, it can be disposed of with normal food waste and will return to nature without a trace - no harm done.
